The Intelligence Cycle

Resource from www.empressbat.com

When creating intelligence briefs or cyber threat intelligence it is important to note that information is not intelligence.

Intelligence is the product of sourcing, collation, evaluating, and analysis, to create meaning to the information. There is a framework for each process in delivering actionable intelligence, it is called the Intelligence cycle,

Planning

Collection

Analysis

Production

Dissemination

Feedback